

Still At Work 3

Recently while in Chicago, I was in a park watching our grandsons ride their scooters. I met a man whose grandson was playing with them.

The man was from a country formerly closed to Christian missionaries. From my new friend I learned that there are people from many countries in the nearby apartment complex. Later as I thought about it, I counted at least 10 ethnicities I had met or heard about.

In the same area lives a woman of faith who longed to take the love of Christ overseas, but was prevented by her life circumstances. Instead, it seems that God is bringing the world to her!

Today many people, including Christians, complain about influxes of "foreigners." I want to suggest a different viewpoint. Why not consider that God is still at work in His world, and is Sovereignly bringing these people near you.

Coffee/tea thought: Could it be that part of the reason of God's plan is that you and I can reach out to them with the love of Christ?

仍在做工3

最近在芝加哥，我在公园看孙子们玩滑板车，遇到一个人，他的孙子也在和他们一块玩。

他来自一个从前向传道人关闭的国家。我的新朋友告诉我在附近的公寓里住着许多来自不同国家的人。后来我算了一下，我大约知道至少十个种族。

在那个地区有个信主的女子渴望去海外传道，但却被生活环境限制。可神似乎在把世界带到她面前。

今天许多人，包括基督徒，抱怨大批涌入的外国人。我的看法不同。为什么不把这看作是神仍在做工，仍用大能的手把人带到你身边。

随想：或许是神的计划，好叫你我能把基督的爱传给他们？
